A candidate must raise a specified amount of money in the election year and file a notarized Affidavit of Contributions certifying that fact to receive public subsidy payments.

A candidate's name must appear on the general election ballot to receive Party Account payments.

General Account payments are made to candidates who receive 10% of the votes cast in the general election for the office sought.

The amount of the party account payments will vary among legislative candidates of a political party.

The amount of the general account payment will be the same for each candidate for a particular office. However, a candidate may receive public subsidy only up to 50% of the candidate's expenditure limit. The general account payment may be reduced if necessary to maintain the 50% limit.
